UPCOMING MEETINGS

July 12  7:30pm  Monthly meeting at Luigi’s. This will also be a meeting for the Shenandoah Valley Bike Festival.

JUNE MEETING MINUTES

The June 14th meeting of the SVBC was held at El Charro’s as Luigi’s was having their annual big clean. There were eight members present. The Treasurer reported a balance of $7,170.90.

The Club will offer jerseys courtesy of Rich Harris, who is doing all the leg work, and the Club’s treasury, which will pick up part of the cost (shipping and screening). By now members have been notified on how to obtain an order form. If you are interested in purchasing a jersey, and haven’t been privy to the information, e-mail Rich Harris, harrisra@jmu.edu. The deadline for orders is August 1st.

Please remember the Shenandoah Valley Bike Festival. Our Community Place is now the organizer. Contact Julie Jenkins if you would like to help. Ride leaders are needed.

No other business was conducted.

The meeting was adjourned.

Respectfully submitted,
Marshall Hammond
Secretary SVBC

WELCOME NEW MEMBERS

John Bauman  Mt. Sidney
Vincent Kelly  Clifton

WELCOME BACK RETURNING MEMBERS

Thanks to all the above for your continued support of the Club.

All the area shops contribute to the Club. Thanks to Mark’s Bike Shop, Mole Hill Bikes, Shenandoah Bicycle Company, and East Coast Bicycle Academy. Please support these local shops. (Also underwritten by R.R. Donnelley Company)
SHENANDOAH VALLEY BIKE FESTIVAL

Here comes the 13th Annual Shenandoah Valley Bike Festival - Ride volunteers are needed!! Please contact Marcia (432-3312). We need ride volunteers for Saturday, July 31st. Please choose from the rides listed below. I appreciate your help!!

7A.M. - Century (100 mi.)  7:30 A.M. - Metric Century (65 mi.)
8A.M. - Morning Loop (24 mi.)  9A.M. - Morning Challenge (40 mi.)
10A.M. - Metric Century (32 mi.)  1:30P.M. - Afternoon Loop (23 mi.)

ALSO, the routes all need to be marked prior to the Bike Festival. If you can help with either or both activities, it would help so much. Thanks!!

Marcia

300k

Back in May I did a ride with my brother. Not just any ride, though. He was looking to train for Boston-Montreal-Boston, a 750k (465 mile) event that runs in the years that Paris-Brest-Paris does not. This ride would be his second step towards that goal, a 300k (186 mile) ride with a 20-hour time limit. I had done a few rides of this length in a day, so I told him I was game.

This one was different for me as it started in the dark of 5am, so lights were required. It also had quite a bit more climbing than my lengthy rides, with a total of 12,385’, so I had to be in somewhat better shape. And it was earlier in the year than I would normally attempt mine. So this Spring had me out in weather colder than I would have liked, for longer than I would have liked. Though I had done Mount Mitchell in May 1996, I had not done a century ride before that day. This year, I did my earliest century (April 18th), and had done three of them before I did the 300k.

The day started somewhat cool, but got very humid quickly. Though the roads weren’t marked, the cue sheet was spot on, and we had no trouble following the route. The first climb was before twenty miles were behind us, but it turned out to be a fairly gentle slope. And the scenery through the Pennsylvania (yes, we had already gone through Maryland and West Virginia) state park was great. We passed by the back side of Camp David after that, and then came upon the mountains before Shippensburg. These had us working, as we got over the first, had a quick downhill, and had to go right back up the next. Oh, but the downhill into Shippensburg was sweet!

After that, it was mostly rolling to flat the rest of the way. The heat came, but wasn’t unbearable. The thirty-seven riders that started had a lot of camaraderie amongst them and chatted at the check-in points and along the way. Three of us were together when we heard the thunder. Around the 150 mile point we had ten minutes of rain, then some clearing, then a few more sprinkles. In another fifteen minutes we were back in dry territory. My brother, though a flatlander from Minnesota, had done his training well and we came in after 14 hours and 16 minutes. That put him 18th in the group, averaging 14.9mph.

We were lucky. In another hour the real storms came through the area. Those still on the course HAD to have found some shelter for almost an hour, as driving a car was barely doable. The last person in finished in 18 hours and 43 minutes. The first, in 11:12! And one, after breaking his seatpost, did not finish. We had passed him on a smaller climb before the bad ones hit, and he looked pretty miserable. I guess standing for miles and miles will do that to some. Overall, a very good day of riding.

ADVOCACY

More than 250,000 cyclists rode through the streets of Germany's capital city on June 6 in what organizers said was the world's largest demonstration of bike enthusiasts. With miles of dedicated bike lanes (Radweg), Berlin is among the most cyclist-friendly cities in Europe.

Demanding "respect for cyclists," riders from as far a field as New York, Moscow and London had more than 300 miles of Berlin streets to themselves as they navigated sixteen different routes, including two stretches of Germany's famous autobahn.

Amidst pleasant weather, attendance as this year's event was more than double that of a similar demonstration last year. Participants included everyone from bemused retirees to a hard core of spandex-clad bike messengers - and more than a few irate commuters who have rediscovered their two-wheelers as gas prices continue to soar. Organizers said that the event would focus attention on "the still underestimated potential of the bicycle as an everyday means of transportation."

DATABASE BLIP

I was working with the membership database and made a slight miscalculation. As such, I may have changed your preference on how you want to receive the newsletter. If you've received the hard copy when you wanted the file, or vice versa, please send me an e-mail and let me know (svbc-nl-editor@att.net). Thanks. Neups

OUCH!

Well, sometimes it happens. I'm still not sure how, but I went down while descending Route 250 West, after the Confederate Breastworks atop Shenandoah Mountain and just before Headwaters. I broke my left collarbone. Luckily, no traffic was around when I went down, as I hit and bounced, staying right in the middle of the road. The family in the van that came around the turn stopped to help me. They even had a bike rack on the back of the van. And the bike was amazingly fine except for a twisted right brake hood (I must have had a death grip on that as I fell to my left). Sometimes you just get lucky.

There's not much one can do for these injuries. I received a figure-of-eight brace and some pain-killer prescription (of which I only took one). The movement of bone against bone was not fun, but it seems to have fused after about two weeks. I was out on the road in eighteen days just to see if I could. At three weeks I was up to two hours, but with some pain. And that was making sure I always stayed seated and put as little pressure on the left arm as I could. Which meant my right shoulder muscles strained more and gave me some pain. Oh, the joy.

Bottom line - don't fall! Keep alert and let's be careful out there.

JERSEYS!

Order Your Shenandoah Valley Bicycle Club Jersey in July

It has been several years since the SVBC took orders for short-sleeve jerseys. We will again be taking jersey orders during the month of July for delivery by the SVBC century on September 12. Five different jersey styles are being offered in both men’s and women’s sizes. All jerseys will be yellow. To order your jersey, complete the order form elsewhere in the newsletter and mail with payment in full to Rich Harris by August 1. Questions? E-mail Rich at harrisra@jmu.edu.

WANNABES

Many of us are avid riders, but can't hang with the fast dogs. This monthly social ride is for you! It will be an opportunity to improve your skills and strength by riding with some experienced people. The rides will generally be flat and of varying lengths (usually 15 to 25 miles) depending on participant experience. No one will be dropped. Our goal is to have fun while we gain experience. Unless otherwise noted in the monthly ride schedule we will meet on the 3rd Sunday at 9:00 am to avoid the hot weather. Call Alice Stecker (564-1611) or Scott Ripley (248-5810) for more information.
